

ESTATEHAT INVESTOR BROCHURE

Real estate workflow, trust, and transaction coordination in one platform.

EstateHat is a Raleigh-based software company building a trust-first operating layer for peer-to-peer real estate transactions. The product brings listing discovery, identity readiness, messaging, forms, and closing coordination into one workflow.

What EstateHat does

EstateHat is built for users who need a guided transaction flow instead of a patchwork of disconnected tools. The platform is structured around verified identities, role-aware controls, and clearer progression from discovery through closing readiness.

Current live surfaces include authenticated onboarding, Hat Board status views, listings and watchlists, transaction and messaging workflows, legal and FAQ pages, investor materials, and public company information routes.

OPERATING POSTURE

Software coordination layer; licensed third parties handle escrow and money movement

Why now

Real estate workflows remain fragmented, high-friction, and difficult for non-expert users to navigate confidently.

Trust posture

EstateHat centers verification, role boundaries, and operational gating before transactions are allowed to progress.

Model

EstateHat focuses on software coordination and workflow revenue while licensed third parties handle escrow and money movement.

What matters to investors

- EstateHat is pursuing a software-margin model tied to transaction activity rather than direct principal exposure.
- The public product posture already reflects trust, compliance boundaries, and workflow clarity as core differentiation.
- Near-term value creation depends on deeper integrations, stronger reporting cadence, and disciplined funnel conversion.

Trust and governance signals

- Identity and role controls are part of the product narrative, not an afterthought.
- Legal, privacy, accessibility, FAQ, press, and investor pages are publicly available.
- Capital is being framed around product credibility, compliance hardening, and measured scaling instead of hype-led growth.

Current monetization snapshot

- 1.50% platform fee on completed transaction sale price.

Near-term focus

- Finish billing and payout integrations.

- Buyer-paid by default unless the seller elects to absorb the fee.
- Verified User subscription shown in product at $20 per month.
- Escrow and wire amounts are modeled in-product but may be partner pass-through depending on transaction setup.

- Improve KPI reporting and investor-update cadence.
- Harden compliance and operational readiness for broader fundraising.
- Optimize trust and transaction funnel conversion.

Diligence path

EstateHat's investor process is designed to move from public materials into direct diligence requests, follow-up calls, and data-room-style document review. This brochure is an entry point, not the end of the conversation.

Current monetization note

Revenue references in public materials reflect the current product model and investor planning posture. They are not audited financial statements and should be reviewed alongside formal diligence materials before any financing decision.

Investor contact

Additional materials available on request include the business plan, financial goals and model summary, and the investor packet linked from the live `/invest` page.

Informational company material only. Not an offer to sell securities or a solicitation to buy securities. Financing discussions should be handled directly with EstateHat and appropriate professional advisors.
